Okay, I'm really starting to think that I might be a lesbian?
Like seriously, and I'm very confused right now. If I ever get married, I only see myself with a woman, I really want
a girl as a prom date
... I don't think I really want to have sex with boys, ever? I kind of want to suck a dick
just to say that I did,
but aside from that?
I don't know. I want kids, but I really don't want to get pregnant. I dunno, I'm just confused.

women are so beautiful, and I think I can see myself growing old with one. I want to gush but I feel like I can't properly explain the love I have for women. I love hipbones and collarbones and wrists and pretty hands. I think I've always wanted to be a homely lesbian.

maybe I'm supposed to feel like an alien. Maybe no matter where I go I'm supposed to feel a little bit alone.
